

Hope Soch was born and raised in New York. She has 30 years of experience as art teacher in New York, Virginia and currently in Jessamine County, Kentucky. Hope holds a BFA (Fine Arts) and a Masters degree in education including a K12 principal certification. Ms. Soch is a practicing artist (painter) and displays her work in downtown Lexington. She is also the custom jockey painter for Keeneland Horse Park. Her experience includes teaching classes at Fusion Gallery, Creative Art League of Jessamine County and the Lexington Ballet's MAD camp. In her spare time, Hope is a personal chef and loves traveling to enhance not only her teaching curriculum but also her culinary skills as well.